

NEWS RELEASE

I am pleased to inform all that we are working on the redesign of our web site. The purpose and intent is to provide for the needs of the growing population of Ostomates in the world today. The company focus is to provide an easy navigable site that gives the average computer literate ostomate important information that can lead them to a normal life after surgery. Please note that this is a work in progress and your comments and suggestions are welcomed by our Webmaster; Joe Notarianni.

Added to our site is the 21st Century Health Program segment that was broadcast several times to 95 Million people throughout the country on the Fox Business News Network and the CNBC Broadcasting Network. Visit www.ostomyezclean.com periodically and let us know what you think of the changes!

Best regards,

Ken Schena
